

Red Robin's November News

Look what we've learned!

Our Red Robins loved the month of October and the change of the season. We had our leaves outside on the playground change colors, there was some wind and rain and with that cold days. We started our homework this month and most Red Robins have turned in all their homework. Go Parents! We learned the zoo phonics sounds and signals for Aa-Ee. Our Red Robins worked on our "sharing is caring" rule and to respect ourselves, friends and adults by using "good manners" words and taking care of our bodies. We played games to help us recognize colors and shapes. We are very excited about our new reading program through scholastics. By us reading 100 books by December along with the rest of the USA we will help donate one million books to other children who are less fortunate. Check out our team counter in the Red Robin cubby room. We loved singing our calendar song which helps us remember the days of the week and month of the year. We walked on balance beams and caught balls for hand-eye coordination. With everything going on the best part was our Halloween party. They had a blast dressing up in their costumes. We played games and sang songs that we have been practicing all month. We can't wait for the holidays to start.

What we are learning...

Goble, Goble, Goble from the little Red Robin turkeys. We are excited for the feast to begin. But first we have a lot of learning to do this month. We need to work on our letters Ff-Jj and learn their sounds and signals. We are also going to write the letters and our names. Soon we will know what city we live in by looking at maps and globes. This month, for our little actors, they will have a chance to work on speaking and singing in front of the class. We will start learning about opposites, sorting, classifying, and matching with games and flashcards. There will be daily cutting, writing listening to 2-3 step directions and calendar. Let the fun begin!

Super Stars

Thank you to the Red Robins and their parents who completed their homework and turned it in.

Also, we have a few new birds to add to the nest. Welcome Sydnie Partida and Jacob Lee.
