

RED ROBIN JANUARY NEWSLETTER

Look what we've learned!

The cold December has brought us fun days inside learning about winter celebrations. Our Red Robins have become experts at opposites and patterning. We learned our Zoophonics letters Kk-Nn and their sounds and signals. Also many of our Red Robins are writing their names correctly. They have been working so hard on their letters. We read books about Diversity (people and places) and weather. We learned new songs about the calendar and winter. The Red Robins enjoyed measuring beads, water, and sand. They also loved making stockings, snowmen and stars with all the learning we took time to have a holiday feast and make gifts for our families.

What we are learning...

Happy New Year to All! With our new year here we will start off learning about our community, weird science and weather. Our Zoophonics letter Oo-Rr will be learned by writing. Sounding out and their signal. We will be discussing and reading books about stranger dangers. Many topics about money, Geography, matching sounds to their letters will be discussed in small groups with the teacher. We will also be working on cuttings skills with scissors and writing the letters of the alphabet with the teachers.

Superstars!

- @ Angel Castaneda for really improving on tracing his letters.

3T and up.

- @ We need extra clothes in size

- @ Parents, now that we are in the New Year we need to really work hard on remembering to bring your child a sheet and blanket every day for nap. Although we have extra sheets and blankets they are for emergency use only (in case a child has an accident).
- @ Please remember to bring your child a jacket as our weather is unpredictable. Thank you for your cooperation and understanding!
